Army Will Destroy Defective Grenades

Cost $12 Million; Original Expenditure Called Excessive

Washington — (AP) — The general accounting office says the army has decided to destroy $12 million worth of defective foreign-made grenades for which GAO says the United States paid too much in the first place.

The agency also reports that military sea transports are sailing with empty troop space because servicemen are being flown overseas.

The reports from the GAO, watchdog over government spending, were submitted to congress during the congressional recess. They were made public after the new session began this week.

Many Duds Found
Involved in one report were high explosive anti-tank and practice rifle grenades ordered by the U. S. Army in Europe from a Belgian firm, S. A. Belge de Mecanique et d'Armerment, and a Portuguese subsidiary. More than $45 million worth of orders for the grenades were said to have been placed over a 3-year period, starting during the Korean war.

The GAO said the army received one report in 1954 that 32 per cent of some of the grenades tested were duds. A 1955 investigation, GAO said, found the grenades became so dangerous after drops during shipment that they might blow up in the course of normal use.

The army said it decided to destroy the defective grenades that year. By Jan. 31, 1957 it said some 833,000 of the grenades still on hand would be destroyed within 18 months.

Price Found Too High
GAO said army purchasers considered the price too high but went ahead with procurement on the basis of urgent need. The Belgian firm held patent rights on the grenades, which were said to have superior armor penetrating capabilities compared with the then-standard U. S. model.

The army finally agreed to a $125,248 refund offer from the Belgian company, GAO said. But the army decided the grenades had been soundly according to contract specifications and that there were no sufficient grounds for action against the company under contract provisions.

Comptroller General Joseph Campbell, head of GAO, recommended that the army consider alternatives when a product is available only at excessive prices.

Calls Ike's Space Plan Wasteful Duplication

President Expected To Reject Bulganin Summit Talks Bid

Likely to Hold Door Open For Later Session by Leaders

Washington — (AP) — President Eisenhower is expected to send Soviet Premier Bulganin a message this weekend holding open the door to an eventual summit conference, but rejecting Bulganin's bid for such a session within three months.

Eisenhower's reply has been coordinated with those going from the government chiefs of Britain, France and other allied nations in response to a series of notes Bulganin sent free world leaders in December. It is understood the replies also will cover the substance of new Bulganin messages to NATO leaders and heads of many other governments this week.

Possible Session Later
Secretary of State Dulles gave the guidelines of U. S. policy at a news conference yesterday. He said no summit meeting should be held — as Bulganin proposed Thursday — within two or three months. But Dulles left open the possibility of some future top level session provided "there is adequate preparation for it and a reasonable assurance that it will accomplish some desirable result."

Dulles denounced Bulganin's Thursday message as a propaganda move designed to steal world attention from Eisenhower's state of the Union message that same day. Dulles deplored such use of "the channels of communication between heads of government."

The secretary conceded under questioning that the Soviets seem to be ahead of the United States in propaganda techniques, as they apparently are in the science of missiles. But he said this is "a technique of smartness" and "in the long run these are not times for that kind of smartness." He accused the Soviets of trying to cover up bad politics by a new Soviet sputnik.

The views of the Swedish government's radio monitors coincided with those of the British Broadcasting Corp. BBC earlier had said the beep actually might be a teleprinter idling.

A Swedish spokesman said the beep-beep was heard at 20,025 megacycles on the sputnik wave-length for hours but was traced to a "typical Russian frequency shift teleprinter transmitter."

He said the printer was now sending clear text in Russian after being idle for about three hours. The teleprinter is a device that transmits news and messages by radio signal. There was no explanation of why the signal was heard over such a wide area.

Sounded Like Sputnik
"It sounded quite like a sputnik at the start," the Swedish spokesman said.

Reports also came from West Germany, Finland and Norway. All the monitors said the sounds were on or around the sputnik wave-length.

After working for several hours with monitoring and direction-finding equipment, a senior BBC engineer suggested the signals might have been transmitted by an idling teleprinter.

In the United States, ham operator Francis Strait of Columbus, Ohio, said he heard "an awfully familiar beep-beep-beep" near the 20-megacycle band from 4:10 to 4:15 a. m. London time is five hours ahead of Ohio.

Tragedy Laid to Faulty Fireplace
Oklaheer — (AP) — Faulty installation of a fireplace in a do-it-yourself project was blamed Friday for the fire that claimed the lives of James Schutten and three of his four small children last Tuesday.

Fire Chief Alfred Buckman announced the cause of the blaze which broke out three days after the family moved into the new house built by the Schutten, a former Milwaukeean.

Killed were Schutten, 26; his sons, Jeffery, 4, and Michael, 3, and a daughter, Carolyn, 3, who had been behind the high fence weeks. Schutten's wife, Mary, 25, and their son, Russell, 16, escaped with burns.

Report Signals Air Force Already Has All Needed Capabilities

London — (AP) — The beep-beep was heard over Europe and in Ohio today, but the Swedish government said it was caused by an idling Russian teleprinter, not by a new Soviet sputnik.

Gen. Schriever Asserts Air Force Already Has All Needed Capabilities

Washington — (AP) — The top air force missile man says President Eisenhower's plan for a unified space agency would wastefully duplicate air force capabilities already in existence.

Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever added last night that the air force is ready to undertake "at a relatively early date" such space age projects as unmanned reconnaissance trips to the moon, Mars, and Venus.

Schriever's opposition to Eisenhower's space program, in testimony before the senate preparedness subcommittee, today was labeled "unfortunate" by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.).

Schriever's testimony was given behind closed doors on Thursday, the day Eisenhower informed congress in his state of the Union message that "all the anti-missile and satellite technology undertaken within the department of defense" would be concentrated in the new advanced research projects agency.

The testimony by Schriever, who also voiced other criticisms of missile and satellite policies, was released last night by the air force in a departure from normal procedure. Generally in such cases, the Pentagon permits the congressional committee to release testimony.

Schriever thus became the third high military officer to criticize administration defense planning this week in what some have tagged "the revolt of the generals."

Differ With Flanders
Flanders said: "It seems the president showed leadership in straightening out the armed forces, and if his first move is publicly condemned by one of the services I think that is unfortunate."

Other senators, however, said Schriever was just being frank and airing a serious disagreement. Schriever criticized the defense department decision to use both the army Jupiter and the air force Thor, 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missiles. He indicated he thought greater missile strength could be achieved sooner by concentrating on the Thor.

The general also said the air force could immediately undertake several space projects by modifying the Thor. He said these include putting a satellite into orbit and making unmanned reconnaissance trips to the moon, Mars and Venus "at a relatively early date."

Army and Navy Projects
So far, the air force has had no role in this country's effort to launch an earth satellite. The navy's Vanguard project had sole responsibility for this until after the Russians launched two sputniks last fall when the army was ordered into the program. Vanguard's first try at launching a test satellite failed on Dec. 6.

Last Dec. 13, Secretary of Defense McElroy disclosed plans for the new space agency. He said the ARPA would operate under a single manager and would not be controlled by any one service.

The air force then announced establishment of its own directorate of astronautics. That plan immediately was canceled at the direction of the defense

Out Go the Dutch

The exodus of Dutch nationals from their homes in Indonesia is a tragic affair, since many have never been to Holland and are not to blame for the sequence of events which led to their removal.

But, as the sins of the father are actually visited upon the children, the Dutch people cannot come out of the affair wholly innocent. They were neither cruel nor oppressive colonizers, but kept the Indonesians as second-class citizens. And, unlike the British who sent back to England many colonial peoples for education, the Dutch discouraged higher learning for the natives.

Our Gentle Citizens

We would not be surprised to learn that a person living in the Fox Cities area has less chance of meeting death at the hands of another person than in any other spot in America, or perhaps the entire world.

This speculation is occasioned by a reading of Coroner Bernard H. Kemps' annual report to the Outagamie County Board. Almost as an afterthought, Kemps notes that there were no homicides in the county during 1957; in fact, there have been only three such deaths in the county in the last seven years. Records from neighboring counties show a similar scarcity of cases in which one person kills another.

We know of places in the United States where such a report — only three homicides in seven years in a county of almost 100,000 population — simply would not be believed. There are counties in this country of considerably less population where murder and manslaughter are almost a weekly occurrence; there are sections of some of our large cities where such cases are on the police docket almost daily. It is a measure of the kind of people who live here in the Fox Valley, of the kind of respect that exists here for the processes of law and justice, that "taking the law into one's own hands" occurs here very rarely.

Gein Is Insane and Locked Up

For one man to attempt to say what is going on in the mind of another is an extremely doubtful business. The person who is sure he never misjudges a character may frequently be proved wrong.

Perhaps thoughts of this nature are running through the minds of the people of Plainfield now. They are reported to be dissatisfied with the decision of Circuit Judge Herbert Bunde of Madison which sent Edward Gein to Central State Hospital for the Criminal Insane as legally insane and unable to stand trial.

However, it should be noted that Judge Bunde did not make the decision alone. He first heard the testimony of three experts who examined Gein carefully during the 30 days he was held at Central Hospital for examination. Two of the experts said Gein was legally insane, while a third said he was medically insane but legally sane and able to stand trial. Atty. Gen. Stewart Honeck

But the Indonesians, apparently encouraged by the liberal element of American government bureaucrats, distinguished less and less between the disappearing evils of Dutch colonialism and the increasing evils of communist infiltration. When their claims to West New Guinea were turned down for a place on the UN agenda, they resorted to the popular Red method of using force in retaliation.

Indonesia drifts ever closer to chaos. The only thing that might save the young, disturbed nation, is for a group of Indonesians with the courage and strength to oust President Sukarno and his "guided democracy" theories which can lead only to financial ruin and an ever-widening door to communist control. As the foreigners are expelled, the Indonesians will soon not be able to blame them any longer for their present as well as their past ills.

Yet there is food for reflection in the balance of Kemps' report which shows that 35 persons died violently in Outagamie county in 1957. 20 of them in traffic accidents and 15 in other types of mishaps. In one sense some of those accidents on the highways should be labeled "homicide" since some persons' carelessness or bullheadedness brought about the deaths of fellow human beings. Eleven persons took their own lives, showing that misery and hopelessness still exist in some people's lives in our seemingly prosperous and happy world.

Nevertheless it is good to know that the people of this area very seldom commit murder or manslaughter. We live, after all, in a vigorous climate: a rather high percentage of our population owns firearms and other death-dealing weapons; our consumption of liquor is probably no lower than the national average. The logical conclusion, we suppose, is that we are a gentle people, not given to the kind of passions that bring about violence to other persons. Or it may be that we are just so busy with our occupations, in our organizations, with our hobbies and home-tending that we just don't have the time to get very mad at anybody.

also was of the opinion that the man should be tried for first degree murder, and the psychiatrist he put on the stand supported his view.

However, the attorney general said a good case might be made for either side and he will not contest the ruling. Judge Bunde thinks Gein will, in all probability, remain in the hospital for the rest of his life. The doctors who examined him appeared to believe that there is little hope for his recovery.

However, different doctors, a different judge and a different time may bring different results. Apparently the people of Plainfield would like some further assurance that Gein is in for life. Judge Bunde expressed the view that the incarceration of Gein as insane without the trouble and expense of a trial was a "rather happy ending." We think most people will agree with that.

Skilled Labor First Choice in Many Nations

BY ELMO C. WILSON
Director, World Poll

In this age of scientific advance, it is not surprising that a career in science is the goal which looms highest in the minds of many in the western world.

What is more significant, is that a job as a skilled laborer exercises an appeal almost as strong in many countries and in a few countries such an occupational choice seems even more desirable than entering science.

In order to determine how much interest there is around the world in promoting scientific careers, population samples in thirteen countries were asked: "If an intelligent young man who seemed suited for almost any line of work asked your advice, what occupation would you be most likely to recommend for him?"

British Strong for Science
Interest in science runs a gamut in the thirteen nations. It is highest in Britain, where 50 per cent said they would urge a young man to become an engineer or scientist, and lowest in Scandinavia and Germany, where less than 20 per cent would recommend this. In the case of Germany this is striking in view of their traditional pre-eminence in science.

In both Germany and Austria, the largest number say they would urge skilled workman jobs on the young man. It is only in these two countries that skilled workman jobs rank higher than science or engineering.

The schooling the respondent has had influences the occupation he suggests for others. In several countries advocacy of skilled workman jobs comes principally from those with less education. This is true in Scandinavia and in Germany, Austria and Australia. Those who have been to high school or college are more likely to recommend scientific work. The figures below for Australia illustrate the findings in six countries.

U. S. Has Bungled Before but There's Hope

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

I received a circular issued by a group in Levittown, New York, an enormous small home community. This circular is an example of the excitement engendered by Sputnik. Most of it deals with education.

Sputnik more than all the arguments and propaganda and P. T. A. meetings has made parents conscious of the education that their children are receiving.

They are not yet conscious of the fact that a school teacher in a city of the size and wealth of New York earns about as much as a porter who sweeps the platform in the subway.

The Levittown circular tells the parents this story:

"In Russia
4th grade — biology
5th grade — foreign languages
6th grade — physics
algebra & geometry
7th grade — chemistry
"But what is really startling is the comparison of the pupil's achievement after only 10 years of study in Russia as compared with 12 years of study in Levittown.
"In Russia
All high school graduates have taken:
5 yrs. of physics,
5 yrs. of biology,
4 yrs. of chemistry
5 yrs. of adv. math
6 yrs. of foreign languages
1 yr. of astronomy

In Levittown (And Almost Any U. S. City)
More than half the graduates have taken:
no physics
no biology
no chemistry
no adv. math
no foreign languages
no astronomy."

No Farmers
Practically no one said he would recommend a career in farming. Almost no one recommended that the young man become an artist. Only a negligible number favor teaching as a career: in no country did more than nine per cent suggest teaching, and in most countries it was under five per cent.

Become an Executive
Few would urge anyone to go in business for himself, although in Belgium and in Italy over ten per cent said they would advise trying to become a corporation executive. In Italy there was an expression of interest in professions other than science: in fact, Italy and Sweden were the only countries in which professional work other than science (law, etc.) ranked ahead of all other occupations. Fifteen per cent are the most in any one country who would suggest government service as a career. White-collar jobs, including clerical work and sales work, were recommended by less than ten per cent.

Where Are the Teachers?
There is recognition of the need for more training in the sciences. How this training is to be achieved is another matter. The teachers needed to turn out scientists will be hard to find if the advice of these populations is followed. Much better than

Schools to be Graded

79 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 11, 1879.

Although the Second District permits at present non-resident scholars to attend school in the district, it is evident in the near future that this must be discontinued.

The Common School, after this year, will be completely graded. In addition to reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic, descriptive geography, instruction will be given in U. S. history, physical geography, biography, German and the elements of botany.

In a few years the High School also will be graded. As soon as this is brought about, there will be no chance for outsiders to make up as then the regular graded work will be followed.

Saturday, Jan. 7, 1933
Beauty shops of Appleton joined in a co-operative movement to stimulate business during an ordinarily quiet season. The shops were pointing out the need for good grooming at all times.

It may have been January to some people but to the members of the Appleton Fire department, who were called out twice to put out grass fires, it seemed very much like a day late in September or early in October.

Mrs. Clara Miller was installed as president of Women's Relief corps. Auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, for her second term.

George Krueger was elected president of the Brotherhood of St. John Evangelical church. Herman Schade was elected vice president. Harold Gotcher was named secretary, and August Winters was chosen treasurer.

Mrs. Rose Bellin was installed as president of the Auxiliary to Spanish War Veterans.

Is Post-Crescent Editor Schizophrenic?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

You might choose to head this letter: Comments on how to smile and get mad.

You said editorially Dec. 24:

"The Christmas story brings its eternal message of peace and hope. . . Peace, for men of good will, comes from within."

Your editorial of Jan. 8 said:

"War is still the only final way men have of reconciling their differences; it remains the only final way in which men can defend their liberties."

It is right to suggest that you get your editorial writers together; or, if this is a single case of schizophrenia, try not to feel helpless. A lot of people I know are in the same fix. Our faith-lacking religiosity, and that of our nation, have much to do with it. Peace is for Christmas; war-conditioning, termed "defense," for the rest of the time.

In two years America stakes its soul on $84 billions to spread devastation. In two years it has spent $1,442,638—one seven-hundredth of one billion—to work seriously on multilateral disarmament.

It all helps to create "the great dilemma," doesn't it?

Are Courts Going to Dictate Hair Styles?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Is America a free country? I have just finished reading the article, "Judge Won't 'Split Hairs' Over Boys' Ducktail Cuts," in your Jan. 7 issue.

I am not writing this to better my hair style, for I, as well as Judge Charles T. Smith of Long Beach, Calif., have a crew cut.

I am an 18-year-old, 1957 high school graduate and am wondering if and where I slipped up along the line, with my education. Since when does any person living in our—Free Country?—have to cut his hair style to please a judge or anyone else? Does the style of haircut, style of clothes or tattoos make an offense committed any greater or smaller?

If things like this continue, some of us will see the day when the person who is able to wear a top hat, or equivalent, won't have to stand trial for any offense.

When "Uncle Sam" looks for men to fight to preserve freedom in this country, he doesn't make a distinction between the boys who have a crew cut or ducktail, tattooed or not. They are all fighting for freedom, and to keep that type of government out of this country.

Judge Smith must be mixed up; this is America, not Russia.

From what I learned in school, many of our great presidents, poets, writers and musicians had hair just as long and longer than most people in our times; they were not considered suspects of crime, but were considered our best citizens.

This type of act did not show good common sense of an educated person, but showed a form of dictatorship.

ALTHOUGH THE FUEL OIL end of their business has been sold, the Schultz Fuel company, 120 N. Linwood avenue, is still very much in the coal business, as the above photo testifies. Fresh stockpiles of coal are on hand at the firm to satisfy every coal user's fuel requirements, the firm emphasized Friday. Terms may be arranged at Schultz' office, adjacent to the yard, when coal orders are placed. Phone number of the firm is RE 3-5571.

The company takes pride in its orderly method of stockpiling its coal on a concrete platform, which keeps foreign matter from getting into it.

All fuel is mechanically loaded into conveyors, which screen the coal as it is loaded onto delivery trucks. In the picture above, coal is being loaded onto the conveyor, which will screen it and deposit it into the small-size modern delivery truck shown at left.

Such prompt handling assures Schultz customers fast dependable service, it was of coal suitable for home, commercial, and industrial use.

Culligan Water Softeners
Carry Triple Guarantee

If you desire to purchase a water softener, be sure to get the facts first, suggests Culligan Soft Water Service, 1331 W. Wisconsin avenue.
Twenty-one years of water conditioning research and performance back up the Culligan trademark, and assure quality and value of the product. Water conditioning is Culligan's exclusive business, and guaranteed performance is the creed of the firm.
Culligan water softeners are triple guaranteed: by the manufacturer, by Good Housekeeping, and by the local Culligan dealer. Culligan units carry both guarantee and warranty. When you deal with Culligan, you deal directly with the manufacturer. There are no commissions included in the sales price of your softener to pay salesmen.
No high pressure tactics are ever used by Culligan dealers; the customer and the customer alone, decides how he would like to have soft water, the firm explained.

Two Plans
Culligan has two plans which it offers homeowners for unlimited soft water: Culligan Soft water service, and Culligan home water conditioners.
The first plan represents a way to enjoy the many benefits of soft water on a service basis: there's no equipment to buy, no work to do. After a simple original installation of a unit, all that is required is periodic visits from the Culligan man.
He takes over your worries on water problems.

The second plan provides the customer with the pride of actually owning the fine Culligan automatic water softener with its distinctive styling and gleaming white enamel finish. Easy local financing is available on these F.H.A. - approved units.
Some models of Culligan's home-owned water softeners begin as low as $99.95 and up. A free water analysis of your home water supply is available to readers, the firm announced Friday, by merely phoning the Culligan office.
Phone number of the firm is RE 4-1330.

Patience Key When Spearing Sturgeon

1958 Season Will Open On Feb. 8

BY JAY REED

Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

Patience, somebody once said, is the sportsman's most valuable asset when he steps into the field with gun or rod. If they gave a trophy for sheer ability to sit down and wait for action it would have to go to those hard-nosed fishermen who, each year, chisel a hole in the ice, move a shack around it and wait, with spear in hand, for the fabled sturgeon.

This year's sturgeon spearing season opens on Saturday, Feb. 8, and will run to March 1. Legal waters will be Lake Winnebago, Little Lake Butte des Morts and connecting waters downstream to Appleton.

Cut Bag Limit
Most regulations are the same as a year ago, except one which cuts the season's limit per fisherman by half—from two to one fish each.

Minimum legal size is 40 inches and each fish must be exhibited within 24 hours to the conservation warden or authorized agent in the county where taken. Successful fishermen, too, must lock immediately to the tail of his catch the special conservation department tag available from conservation officials for $1.

Chances for a good season are excellent, fisheries men say, but are packing away their traps, the total take is almost certain to be down over last year if for no other reason than the cut bag limit in the daily bag limit.

For example, 851 sturgeon were registered out of Lake 60. Winnebago last year, 661 in 1956. When the bag limit also was two, and 1,505 in 1955 when the limit was three.

Average Length
The average length of fish registered out of Winnebago was 55.9 inches, and the average weight was 49.2 pounds.

Department managers say the 22 per cent increase in harvest of sturgeon in 1957 over 1956 appears due to an increase to 7,000 in spearing pressure. Figures show that there were 1,538 shanties on the lake last year, compared with 1,238 in 1956.

There is every indication, according to the department, that pressure will be at least as high and probably higher than 1957. Water clarity holds one of the keys to success for spearsmen this year. Last year, good weather and good clarity created better than average spearing conditions.

What the upcoming season will hold remains to be seen. Department officials estimate there are between 11,300 and 12,500 sturgeon over 40 inches long in Lake Winnebago. What are your chances for success? Well, like we said in the beginning—how's your patience?

State Apparently Losing Fight to Save Its Wetlands

Drainage Projects Bite Off Areas Of Wisconsin's Wildlife Habitat

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — In spite of record expenditures for the purpose by the state conservation department, the fight to protect wildlife habitat through the acquisition of marshlands may be a losing one.

J. R. Smith, head of the state game division, has given an inquiring legislative committee his sober guess that Wisconsin is probably losing marshlands to drainage projects more rapidly than it is saving them through the state's development and buying program.

"This is an alarming situation," remarked Senator Reuben LaFave of Oconto, chairman of the legislative study group, as Smith offered his estimate of the department's battle to keep up with agricultural drainage work, most of it subsidized by the national government's several farm aid programs.

Smith conceded that he does not have precise figures in the progress of the battle over wetlands drainage, but commented:

"My guess is that we're losing ground."

Wetlands Budget
As have others before them, legislators of the conservation group grumbled that there ought to be a halt to new draining of marshes for agriculture at a time of pressing agricultural surpluses. Nothing specific was offered, however.

Smith noted that his wetlands budget of nearly $850,000 for the current biennium is the highest ever. But he said the 140,000 acres of such game lands thus far acquired by the state need at least $1,600,000 worth of work on them. About $1,600,000 has been spent on such lands already.

'Rat Trappers Look for New Line of Work

Windsor, Ont. — Milady is wearing mink instead of muskrat nowadays and trappers who go after rats in southwestern Ontario marshes are packing away their traps.

Muskrat prices are at their lowest in 40 years, say the trappers. They get only 40 cents a pelt and the current top price on the Toronto market is 60 cents.

"It's no use," says Joe Rosen, a fur dealer in Windsor for 50 years. "I have furs left over from last year and I still can't get rid of them. The price is too low."

Not too many trappers will be going to the marshes this winter, Joe thinks. Just four years ago Joe bought 30,000 the 22 per cent increase in harvest of sturgeon in 1957 over 1956 appears due to an increase to 7,000 in spearing pressure.

Figures show that there were 1,538 shanties on the lake last year, compared with 1,238 in 1956. "Anyone who would trap rats is crazy," he says.

"You just can't make money on trapping any more. I won't set a trap this year. I guess the keys to success for spearsmen this year. Last year, good weather and good clarity created better than average spearing conditions."

Marsh Hay Found To be Valuable Mink Farm Item

The marsh, long regarded as waste land on many farms, has taken on a new value. Good marsh hay is in demand for use as bedding for mink.

Game manager Robert Wendt, Ladysmith, reports that the present supply of marsh hay falls far short of demand.

During the summer weed free marsh hay sold for from $15 to $20 a ton. Managing a marsh for hay requires little preparation other than cutting scattered clumps of brush.

Mink ranchers have found that marsh hay is superior to tame hay or straw for mink since it does not stain the valuable fur. Marsh owners are advised to contact mink ranchers relative to their next year's needs.

The Warden Speaks

Good Walleye Catches Reported in Big Lake

BY CHUCK WRANOSKY

Outagamie County Game Warden

Fishing has picked up during the last week and should improve as the winter moves on.

Some nice catches of walleyes were taken off the east shore of Lake Winnebago. The northern end didn't produce too well. The cutoff at New London has provided good panfishing while the Stephenville bayou still remains slow, with a few bluegills and northerners being taken.

Lake Poygan is providing some nice perch, northern and walleye fishing.

Question — What is the possession limit for fishing?

Answer — The possession limit for each species is twice the daily bag limit.

Question — If I am under 16 years of age, may I fish with more than two lines?

Answer — No. A person under 16 must fish with not more than two lines, the same as any licensed fisherman. Be sure, however, that the youngster does the fishing.

Question — Must a person over 65 years of age have a fishing license?

Answer — Yes. However, the license is free and may be obtained from county clerks or any conservation warden.

Question — How may fish which have a size and bag limit be transported?

Answer — These fish may be transported only if they are wholly intact with only the scales, gills and entrails removed.

Question — May two people ship fish together in one package?

Answer — No. No box, package or container of fish transported by common carrier may contain fish of more than one owner.

Question — What live minnows may not be transported in Wisconsin?

Answer — Carp, dogfish, gar, lamprey eels and smelt. Remember, the game law violator is a thief.

OUTDOORS IN WISCONSIN Birds the Same, But Newly Named

BY CLARA HUSSONG

Green Bay — From dove on it's not English sparrow any more—it's house sparrow. The Canada jay is now the gray jay, the European or Hungarian partridge is the gray partridge, and the red-backed sandpiper will be known as the dunlin.

At the 1957 meeting of the American Ornithological union it was decided to issue a new check list of birds, which will give the name changes long recommended by many ornithologists. The Wisconsin Society for Ornithology has adopted the changes recommended by the AOU in its own field check list, and also in publishing news about birds in its magazine, "The Passenger Pigeon."

Name changes were made for a number of reasons. "House sparrow" is the name by which is known this common bird in Europe where it is a native. We gave it the name of English sparrow because the first birds introduced into this country came from England.

Peregrine Falcon
A number of our native birds are the same species as those found in the old world. In such cases the older name has been adopted: the American pipit will be called water pipit, as it is in Europe; the American egret henceforth will be known as the common egret; and the duck hawk as the peregrine falcon.

At a WSO board meeting, members discussed this question of name changes, and wondered why duck hawk was changed, but not sparrow hawk.

In Europe this peregrine bears the name of kestrel. The AOU left sparrow hawk as it was.

The previous AOU check list separated geographical races of birds. There were the eastern robin, western robin, and southern robin, for instance. Now there is just robin. Song sparrows at one time were divided into numerous races—ours was the eastern song sparrow, but now they'll all be called song sparrows.

Veery Again
Several changes have been made in thrush names. Once three-toed woodpecker; solid willow tary instead of blue-headed vireo; brown-capped instead of loggery.

The bird we formerly knew as Florida gallinule, will now be the common gallinule, and the Hudsonian curlew, will be Swain's curlew.

The alder flycatcher's new name is Traill's flycatcher. The eastern and western meadowlarks will remain separate, and so will the eastern and western kingbirds. The Wilson's warbler each into the long-billed and short-billed species.

Several birds have been known by two names, sometimes both names being used in one community. From now on it will be red-necked instead of Hoibell's grebe; common instead of Wilson's snipe; black-backed instead of arctic; solid three-toed woodpecker; solid willow tary instead of blue-headed vireo; brown-capped instead of loggery.

The 1958 Sturgeon Spearing Season which opens Feb. 8 will bring a re-enactment of scenes like these pictured last year by Post-Crescent photographers. Lake Winnebago's vast expanse of ice will again be dotted by shacks similar to those shown in the top photo. At bottom left Dave Freye, Menasha, is shown with a sturgeon just lifted onto the floor of his shanty. At bottom right A. C. Bessett, Appleton, waits patiently, and in comfort, for some action. cies on such matters as disarmament with clever propaganda. Throughout much of his news conference, Dulles assailed Soviet bad faith in making and then not keeping agreements. But at the end he said "you have got to keep trying and trying" through meetings and negotiations with the Russians to work out agreements which can be kept.

Dulles said the Soviet proposal for an agreement to ban the use of nuclear weapons would not work and that the Kremlin's proposal to call off tests of such weapons would not advance disarmament "one inch."

He contrasted these Russian suggestions with American proposals for safeguarded and policed agreements to stop weapons production and prevent surprise attack. Dulles said these U. S. proposals hold a possibility of greatly reducing tensions and the danger of war.

"Nations that have relied for their existence on Soviet promises have almost uniformly lost it," Dulles said. "And, until there is a better record than that, I don't believe that the safety, perhaps the very existence of the United States, ought to be put at the hazard of a Soviet promise."

Asked whether Bulganin's second round of letters would delay answers from the United States and other NATO members to the December broadcast from Moscow, Dulles said it would not especially since there was nothing new in the most recent messages.

It was understood that the western replies, at least the reply from the United States, would be dispatched to the Kremlin promptly.

Widower Jailed for Annoying Calls to High School Girls

Police have arrested the man who has been making obscene telephone calls to Hortonville girls.

A 50-year-old Kimberly man was jailed Friday and handed over by court order to the state department of public welfare for a pre-sentence investigation after he admitted making six telephone calls to girls of high school age and using obscene language and suggestions.

Henry Van Haelst was arrested by Hortonville Police Chief Ira Dominowski and Sheriff's Lt. Jack Zuelzke after they learned his telephone number from one of the girls.

He admitted calling 18 girls a total of 65 times. Van Haelst is a widower who lives with several brothers on the outskirts of Kimberly on County Trunk Z.

On last July 5, Van Haelst was fined $50 on a charge of disorderly conduct stemming from a similar sort of telephone calling. At that time he admitted calling one girl about 10 times, five times in one day. Several other girls also were called. The calls occurred in May and June.

The calls to high school girls in Hortonville began Nov. 26, Dominowski said. The girls became afraid to go out at night, he added.

Van Haelst told the judge not all of the calls were "nasty. I just wanted someone to talk to. It was a stupid, fool thing to do."

Van Haelst said he knew none of the girls personally and often called them after seeing their pictures in the Post-Crescent. In conversation with some of the girls he got the names of others to call, Dominowski said.

In many cases, Dominowski said, Van Haelst would call the girl's home and be referred to the girl's mother. He would then call back immediately, sometimes three times in succession, Dominowski said.

food given to Albanian officers," Curran said.

He said he received plenty of cigarettes and that liquor was offered him.

Curran also said that before he landed in Albania he had not seen Albanian jets in the air.

Due to Leave Today

He said that at the time he had to land he had been about two and a half hours in air.

It is expected that he will leave today on the U. S. air attaché's plane, but the destination is not known.

From the airport, Curran, accompanied by American embassy officials, went to the embassy building to report to the air attaché.

Curran said the Albanians told him last Wednesday that he was free to leave in his plane. When it became evident they were not providing the replacement tire, he chose the Yugoslav commercial line to Belgrade.

At the airport in Tirana to see him off, he said, was the French minister to Albania, Louis Keller, and that this was his first and only contact with the French in Albania.

The United States, which has no diplomatic relations with Albania, had asked the French to act for them in this case.

Albanian authorities said yesterday Curran, of Tacoma Wash., would be allowed to fly his plane out of Albania.

There was no immediate explanation here why he would leave the plane but it was presumed that the T33 was out of fuel or having mechanical trouble.

Benton Estate Left to Family In Trust Funds

$100,000 Estimated Value Set; Will Admitted to Probate

The estate of Homer H. Benton, Appleton attorney and civic leader who died Dec. 19 at 71, was left to his wife, two daughters and a sister, his will indicates. The will has been admitted for probate by County Judge Stanley A. Staidl.

An estimate of the estate filed shows $50,000 in personal property, $45,000 real estate and $5,000 annual rent from properties. No inventory is made of estates when the will is admitted to probate. Benton's will was drawn in October of 1954.

Judge Staidl set April 4 as the deadline for claims against the estate and April 8 for an examination of claims.

Benton's will leaves his personal effects to his widow, Mrs. Katherine S. Benton, 1105 E. Eldorado street, establishes two trusts and makes several specific bequests.

Bequests of $2,000 each are left to Dr. William H. Hale, his son-in-law, 1613 Carver lane; Gerald T. Flom, his son-in-law, Minneapolis, Minn.; William B. Hale, his grandson, and Mrs. Martha B. Flom, his daughter.

Trusts Established

The will specifies a $10,000 trust to be set up for the benefit of Benton's sister, Mrs. Jennie B. Radcliffe, Richland Center, with the income to be paid her. At her death, the trust will revert to the family.

Two trusts, a family and a marital trust, are established by the will.

The marital trust is to be established for the benefit of Benton's widow, giving her the right to withdraw any portion of it. At her death it is to be distributed according to her instructions. If no instructions exist, it is to revert to the family.

Benton's will specifies that 50 per cent of his gross estate is to be used to set up the marital trust.

The remainder of the estate is to be placed in a family trust. The income from this trust is to be divided half to his widow and the remainder to his daughters, Mrs. Katherine B. Hale and Mrs. Flom.

If either daughter dies, the trust income is to be paid to her children and if no children survive the income is to be paid to the surviving daughter, the deceased daughter's husband and Benton's widow in equal shares.

Benton's will names Mrs. Benton, Mrs. Hale and Mrs. Flom as executors of the will and trustees of the trust. They are empowered to divide or distribute the trusts in any way they see fit, the will specifies.

The family trust is to terminate at the death of Benton's daughters.

The meeting will be at Tony Wonder's club, Little Chute. Plans call for grouping scout committees in divisions. Categories include program, camp, relationships, finance, district operations and commissions.

Judge Won't Ban Pictures

Hansen Disagrees With Canon 35 on Court Photo Coverage

Milwaukee — District Judge Robert W. Hansen said Friday he would not issue a blanket prohibition of photographing, broadcasting or televising proceedings in his courtroom.

Judge Hansen said he was in full dissent with the American Bar association's Canon 35, which bans such coverage. He said he fully agrees with a ruling by the Colorado Supreme court in 1956 that the canon is without solid foundation.

"The element of physical distraction either to the presiding judge or to the persons present has been eliminated by the improvements and advances in the field," Judge Hansen said.

He made the statement following his ruling that barred television coverage of a trial at the insistence of a defense attorney.

Plans to Uphold

However, Judge Hansen continued, he planned to uphold as a general rule in his court "The policy that the right of the public to know is important and there will be no prohibition of reporting, broadcasting or televising of court proceedings."

Judge Hansen said such a policy protects the rights of press, radio and television in courtroom coverage.

"Where there is an objection on the part of a witness, from the time that witness is sworn in until the testimony is completed there will be no cameras or television permitted," the judge said.

Televising, cameras and broadcasting could cause a psychological distraction for an individual witness or an individual defendant.

The case which prompted Judge Hansen's statements is one in which Eugene Stehson, 29, of Milwaukee, is charged with threatening to injure or force testimony. The complainant is Mrs. Vivian Kempf, 24, also of Milwaukee. Both were arrested on charges of lewd and lascivious behavior. Stenson's attorney objected to the television coverage.

They entered the home a second time Sept. 24 and stole a half dollar, forty .22 caliber shells and did assorted vandalism in the barn.

Queen Wore Bracelets Properly

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Since the recent visit of Queen Elizabeth to this country, there have been several discussions among my friends apropos to her wearing her diamond bracelets on the outside of her gloves at evening receptions given in her honor. I have always been of the opinion that it was in just as bad taste to wear bracelets over one's gloves as it was to wear rings over them. Have I been mistaken about this? Surely the queen can't be wrong. I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

Answer: The queen was not wrong! It is quite correct to wear bracelets over long evening gloves at a formal reception, a ball or at the opera. They are not correctly worn over street gloves.

Gift Certificate

Dear Mrs. Post: My 19-year-old daughter would like very much to send her boyfriend, who is in the service, a birthday present. She had been dating him steadily for five months before he went into the service and now they correspond daily. She told me that she was going to send him a gift certificate from a leading men's shop in the amount of $20 so that he could buy what he liked. I told her that such a present was not proper but she has her mind set on it and only you can make her change it if you agree that it is not a proper present for a girl to give a boy.

Answer: Tell her I agree absolutely with you and that it would be unsuitable for her to send him a gift certificate.

No Answer Needed

Dear Mrs. Post: My son is going to be married soon to a girl from another town whose family I have never met. I have received an engraved invitation to the wedding and I would like to know if I am supposed to acknowledge this invitation the same as another guest?

Answer: No, it was sent to you thinking that you would be interested in seeing what the invitations were like.

Attention, Men!
Jaundiced Male Says Figure Exiled to Siberia by 'Sack'

(Editor's note: Women will wear the things that fashion dictates but it's the men who must look at — and mostly pay for — those bold new styles. To get the masculine viewpoint an AP writer tip-toed into a posh spring fashion showing, saw it all, and retained just strength enough to pen this account.)

BY HUGH A. MULLIGAN

New York — Men, if the unpublished Gaiher security report has you worried about the shape of things to come, take heart in the findings of this top-secret gunny sack report.

No matter where America stands in the missile race, she is making remarkable strides on the fashion front. Thanks to our intrepid designers and a shapeless mass called the chemise. American women will be just as well dressed as Russian women by the spring of 1958.

Fore and aft (and you'll have to look twice to tell which), they'll have the tubby, tubular look of a Murmansk momma on her way to market in her greatcoat. No curves, no kinks; no wiggles, no jiggles. Just a bolt of cloth billowing in the breeze, drooping in the doldrums, depending on wind conditions.

Imagination Necessary
In closing the fashion gap, same as in the early American bosom, derriere and other art form he pioneered: a long capitalistic tourist attractions wooden runway stretching clear have been relegated to the cou-into the bald-headed row, a turier's Siberia. Everything, round spotlight playing on a red but everything, has been left to the imagination.

The girl of your dreams will be as sexy as a barbershop calendar — still wrapped in its cardboard mailing tube.

This in a nutshell — or rather in a silk sheathed rain barrel — is the gist of the gunny sack report, now revealed for the first time.

By posing as a fashion writer (all it took was a paisley print tie with matching pocket handkerchief of the sincerest hue), this reporter managed to smuggle the information out of the heavily guarded salon of a Fifth avenue hotel where the high priestesses of the garment trade had gathered for their annual meeting.

Beauty Ways of Beauty Must be Kept Up
By Marian Matthews

Doing the most for yourself? Few women can honestly say they do little more than the minimum to bring out their real beauty.

Whether you are young, mature or middle-aged there's really no time like the present is there?

If you have been guilty of negligence and let yourself go, try a salon treatment that includes restyling hair and advice on using cosmetics. A personalized consultation is available at some shops before a correct hair style is selected to flatter your shape face.

A thorough analysis includes study of your height, weight, personality. A cosmetic expert will recommend the most flattering shade of make-up for your skin type. You can also learn what general care is best for your skin.

Watching the expert work can be helpful when you do your own hair or when you apply make-up. Study how brows are done—where they start and how they are arched and accented with an eye pencil. Pay attention to your lip line — is it more curved or more generous than you are accustomed to drawing it yourself? Memorize the order in which cosmetics are applied—the application itself is important—and make-up in the same careful manner at home.

There was the bloused chemise, cuffed droopily at the middle the way the general store keeper used to tuck in the fold of a half empty grain sack. There was the two piece suit chemise, roughly an army field jacket over a mother Hubbard. And the "harem chemise," trussed up at the bottom so it literally became a cul-de-sac. Finally, the "bare-top evening chemise," which provided the silhouette effect of a semi-naked girl peeping sheepishly out of an upright sewer pipe, which ended precisely 16 inches from the floor.

No Sackcloth Noted
Across the table, a stout, gray-haired woman who might have shared a daisy chain with Whistler's mother in her Vas-sar days directed a question at me. "Do you think I could wear thing to do is bring the matter right out into the open, guests or no guests, or the boy will never learn."

Manners are MADE not born. This has nothing to do with heredity. Children learn by training and example. If your son is 16 and behaving like an ox, you and your husband had better get busy. To write him off as "hopeless" would be a terrible mistake.

Explain to your son that as a member of the family he has a responsibility to guests who come into the house. It costs nothing to stand up on his feet and extend his hand. If he doesn't care to visit, he can excuse himself and go to his own room.

At the first sign of improvement on his part, praise him. Remember poise takes practice. He's starting pretty late in the game and will need plenty of encouragement. Good luck.

Your Problems
Manners are Made Not Born; Children Learn by Example

DEAR ANN: Our 16-year-old son worries us to death. He's not a bad boy, in trouble with the law or anything like that; he's just a big ox who doesn't seem to care about decent manners.

When we have guests, the boy sits in the living room. (shoes off and hair uncombed) so engrossed in comic books he doesn't even raise his head to say hello. My husband doesn't want to make a scene before guests so he says nothing. I maintain the matter right out into the open, guests or no guests, or the boy will never learn.

son her husband snored was because his mouth fell open, and the cure was to figure out a way to keep his mouth closed at night.

My aunt hit on the idea of tying strips of muslin under his chin and over his head. This kept his jaw from dropping down and solved the problem completely. Please pass the word along — ASTERISK.

Did you say strips of muslin? The only thing missing is the embalming fluid! Your uncle must be one in a million. I don't think many men would stand for this.

Besides, tying a guy's mouth shut could lead to worse problems than snoring. He couldn't say "I love you" or anything. No thanks; the cure sounds worse than the sickness.

UW Testing Service Finds Superior Pupils

Students Examined At Own Expense in Experimental Program

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — A guidance laboratory to help local school administrators identify and encourage superior high school students has been created within the school of education at the University of Wisconsin.

Started experimentally a year ago, the unit is now in full-scale operation with a staff of six specialists.

"The staff of the laboratory believes the work of identifying and providing for superior students is basically an obligation of the schools," the university says in a bulletin to school boards explaining the new service.

Here is how it works:

Pupils Examined
High schools desiring to participate select several ninth grade students from their rolls and send them to Madison for examination, accompanied by a local school staff representative. The students come at their own expense and are examined intensively over a period of a day and a half.

A written report about each of the students is also sent to the school after the student gets an oral account of the results of his testing and an interpretation of their implications.

Members of the testing staff later visit the school to consult with teachers and administrators on the special problems of handling superior students, and at least once later in the student's high school career, he returns to Madison for a follow-up test. All of such students will also be observed during their high school work and in their post-graduate careers, if possible.

About 40 high schools are now members of the testing service, the university said.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Bradie

Faith Gave John the Baptist the humbleness to step aside when he believed in One greater than himself, yet the power to stand up against a ruler in whom he did not believe. When Christ came to be baptized, John said, "I have need to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me?" When the ruler Antipas offered John honors, wealth and freedom to stir the people into revolt against Rome, John said that Christ "alone knows the way to the Kingdom." (AP Newsfeatures)

Record Crowd Sees Menasha Tree Bonfire

Menasha — A record crowd estimated at between 2,500 and 3,000 people was on hand to watch the annual Christmas tree bonfire at Menasha's Seventh street skating rink Friday night, it was reported today.

Another record was established when 1,000 skaters were on the Seventh street ice at one time.

Park Supt. Harry Kargus and Syl Kohanski of the park crew started the Christmas trees burning at 7:15 and they burned until 8:30 when they were extinguished by Lt. Roy Verhov. en and Stanley Sokolowski of the Menasha fire department.

Menasha Police Chief Peter P. Clark thanked the crowd this morning for being orderly and cooperative.

Piekarz to Run For Alderman In Sixth Ward

Political Newcomer First Candidate in Newly-Created Ward

Neenah — The first candidate for alderman in the city's newly created Sixth ward took out nomination papers Friday afternoon. He is Edward Piekarz, 39, 967 Hunt avenue.

Piekarz, a newcomer on the political scene, has never held public office before. He has been a resident of Neenah for nine years, and has always lived in what is now the Sixth ward. He is married and has four children, all pupils at the Hoover school. He is active in the Hoover Parent-Teacher association, the Cub scouts and the American Legion.

The candidate is a mechanical engineer at the Lakeview mill of the Kimberly-Clark corporation, his employer for the last 12 years.

The Sixth ward candidacy leaves five wards without candidates for the April 1 election. These are the First, Fourth, Fifth, Seventh and Eighth. In addition, no candidates have announced themselves for the posts of county supervisor from the First, Second, Fourth, Sixth or Ninth wards.

All candidates for these posts must file nomination papers with the city clerk on or before Jan. 28. To date 11 persons have announced their candidacy for the April ballot.

Winneconne to Rename Streets

Winneconne — The village of Winneconne will contact the League of Wisconsin Municipalities for information regarding the most feasible way to rename the streets of the village, it was decided Tuesday night. A study of the tentative zoning ordinance and the most recent village map combined with a briefing by Kenneth Saylor, village president, indicated that the present system of street naming is inadequate. A report of the work of the planning committee is to be prepared before the February meeting and will then be presented to the village council.

Services will be at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at Grace Lutheran church, Winchester. Burial will be in the Grace Lutheran cemetery. Friends may call at the Westgor Funeral home, Neenah, after 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon until 10 o'clock Monday morning, and then at the church.

Two Boys Admit School Break-in

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Two route 2, Neenah boys, one 14 and the other 15, are being held in the juvenile detention ward of the county jail in connection with a break-in at the Spring Road school in the town of Menasha Wednesday night.

They pried a window off a rear door and got $22.35 from a student's desk. The money had been collected for subscriptions to a state historical magazine. The screwdriver used to pry off the window was found in the younger boy's house along with the can that had contained the money and part of the money.

The younger boy also admitted a break-in at the Quality Printing company of Neenah from which printing instruments were taken. The operator of a filling station on Highway 41 had noticed the two boys about 11 o'clock Wednesday and saw the younger boy go into a nearby house. Police checking the house found the money and screwdriver.

Here's What Happened During Much of Friday night's Knox-Lawrence basketball game in the Alexander gym. Lawrence's Bill Wood (12) and Rick Ramsey (14) weave with the ball in the backcourt, but Knox stays in a zone defense. Other Vikes are Willie Weber (15) and Jack Leatham. The Siwashers are John Liston (44) Lanny Kiest (35) Denny Geraghty (22) Harry Reece (31) and Jim Stowell (43). Liston glances back at the fifth Viking, who is off the picture. Lawrence tried to control the ball and slow down play but it didn't work as Knox walked off with a 57-26 victory. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Manitowoc — If the Appleton High school Terrors are to win their second straight Fox River Valley conference basketball title and fifth consecutive major sports championship, they'll have to do it the hard way.

Manitowoc's unbeaten band of irrepressible cagers made sure of that Friday night by thrashing the defending champions, 75-52, dropping them two games off the pace.

The decisiveness of the Terrors' loss is perhaps more indicative of the uphill climb ahead than their current FRVC record (2-2). For, against the nimble, sharpshooters, ball-stealing Shipbuilders, the Terrors were but a faint facsimile of the team that had beaten Green Bay West and Stevens Point in its two most recent starts.

Sixth Straight Win

In ringing up their sixth straight victory before a packed house of predominantly partisan fans, the Ships dealt AHS its third loss but first shattering of the season. The loss is the most one-sided for the Terrors in their last 39 games—since Green Bay West beat AHS, 71-45, in February, 1956. The Terrors had lost two close games—to Neenah and Central—in their seven previous starts this season.

Manly blazed away at a 41 per cent field goal rate and a 71.4 per cent free throw rate in scoring 20 more points than any previous Terror foe this season. The best any other quint had been able to do against the Terrors' usually effective defense was 55 points.

Enroute to the win that kept them tied for first place with Shelbygan Central (66-59 winner over North) the Ships trailed only once. Dick King's rebound put AHS ahead, 5-4, with terey for a 2-day total of 137 2 minutes, 55 seconds gone, and second place.

Tempestuous Tommy Bolt, who remained calm despite for windy and sometimes rainy at the 3:58 mark of the first quarter.

The bounce and drive of the Ships' harassing defensive play asserted itself early. Four of their first six baskets were the direct result of ball thefts as

Late Rocket Surge Vanquishes Scrappy New London, 76-50

Neenah—Clicking for the last 10 points of the third quarter, Neenah broke a 41-all deadlock and went on to best a stubborn New London club 76-50 here Friday night.

The victory was the tenth straight for the Rockets, their fifth in Mid-Eastern conference play. New London is winless in five league starts.

The deadlock scoring combination of Fred Seggelink and Dave Thomsen, with some fine assistance from Ed Meyer, put the Rockets in command in the third quarter after the fighting Bulldogs kept abreast with them for the first half of the frame.

With 3:52 left in the third quarter and the score knotted, Seggelink dumped in a tip-in after a teammate missed a layup off the fast break. From that time until 1:45 remained in the ball game, the hosts rang up 26 more points and Seggelink and Thomsen accounted for all of them.

Meyer did the heavy duty before Seggelink and Thomsen found the range by hitting Neenah's first seven points of the third period.

Bulldogs Get Tie

The Bulldogs gave it quite a try before succumbing to the late third period and the fourth quarter outbursts. They were down 15-9 at the end of the first frame and at one time trailed, 23-13, in the second. But they wound up the last half of the period by outscoring the Rockets 19-5 for a precarious 34-32 Neenah halftime edge. The Bulldogs were cold in the last two frames and only made nine points in each.

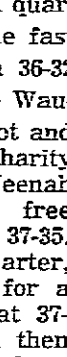

Meyer opened the third quarter by connecting off the fast break to give Neenah a 36-32 lead. The Bulldogs' Dale Wauseshock hit on a hook shot and Dale Monsour added a charity throw to make it 36-35, Neenah still in front. Meyer's free throw upped the score to 37-35. With 6:13 left in the quarter, Bob Elscholtz broke in for a layup to tie the score at 37-apiece and New London then went ahead for the first and only time as Elscholtz stole the ball and scored.

51-41 After Three

Meyer added two free throws at the 4:46 mark for a 39-all count and he added two gifts 18 seconds later for 41-39. Tom Beckman gave New London another tie (41-41) with his jump shot.

There was no scoring for the next 39 seconds but Neenah got a fast break going, missed the shot but Seggelink was on hand.

Kaukauna Trails Only Once; Simon Coins 26 Points

Kaukauna — The Galloping Ghost cagers got the 1958 portion of their Mid-eastern conference schedule off on the right foot here Friday night as they rolled to a 71 to 67 upset win over Menasha.

A ccuracy from the free throw line accounted for the win as the win alone controlled most of the backboards throughout most of the contest also played an important part. The winners trailed only once in the game and at one time held a 12-point lead.

The Jays lost two starters—one in the first minute of the last quarter and another with three minutes remaining in the third period.

Kaukauna lost two of the first five, both fouling out with less than three minutes remaining. Quick baskets by Gary Van-evenhoven and Bill Simon gave Kaukauna a 4-point lead in the first minute of play and the Ghosts kept on the pressure for the balance of the period.

The Jays moved into a 9-8 lead midway through the first quarter but Kaukauna then hit four points to take a lead it never relinquished. The Ghosts led, 16-11, at the quarter.

Hit First Goal

Menasha hit the first goal of the second period but the Ghosts fought right back and thereafter the closest Menasha was able to come was four points. The winners held a 34 to 25 edge at halftime.

Simon hit 14 points for Kaukauna in the first half while

Putting Expert Hits '5-Under' 67; Casper Takes Second Place

Pebble Beach, Calif. — (U.S.)

Capable Bob Rosburg threatened to make a runaway with the $50,000 Bing Crosby Golf tournament today as he passed the halfway point in the 72-hole event with a 5-stroke lead.

The chunky putting expert Friday added a 5-under-par 67 over the tough and tricky Cypress Point course to the 65 he had at Monterey Peninsula Country club on opening day for a 132 total.

His down-the-middle drives plus the putting that has placed his name among golf's top professionals combined for six birdies. The only time he went over par was in playing things safe on the over-the-water sixteenth that claimed victims by the dozen.

Casper Shoots 66

Rosburg's 67 wasn't quite the best round of the day, though, as Bill Casper, Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif., fired a 66 at Monterey for a 2-day total of 137 2 minutes, 55 seconds gone, and second place.

The loss was the eighth straight of the season for the Truckers, five in conference play, while the Purple Raiders are now at 3-2 in M-E action.

After keeping pace with Two Rivers in the early minutes of the game, the Chints began to fall behind until Two Rivers held a 17-8 lead with about two minutes left in the first quarter. The Chints then closed the gap and were trailing 18-13, at the end of the first period.

Chints Take Lead

The Truckers continued to fight back early in the second quarter and finally went ahead for the first time since their 2-0 lead at 24-22. The Purple Raiders scored the final six points of the half, however, to take a 28-24 lead.

The third period was pretty much of a repeat of the first quarter. Two Rivers held a 47-38 lead going into the final period.

The Truckers closed the gap in the final quarter and during the final four minutes were never more than five points behind.

Chamber Votes Against Change In Pricing Bill

'Good Faith' Clause Allows Discrimination In Some Instances

Chamber of commerce directors have voted to oppose congressional legislation which would tamper with the so-called "good faith" clause as defense against charges of price discrimination.

The clause is part of the Clayton act when says in part, it does not forbid price discriminations "made in good faith to meet competition."

The law amended in 1938 permits price discrimination of a competitor or services or facilities furnished by a competitor.

Pending Bill

A bill pending before congress cites the "monopolistic" tendencies of the original bill. It is opposed generally because it is claimed, it would thwart competition, restrict a free and competitive system.

The chamber directors' vote is against any change and is part of a national chamber of commerce referendum.

In other action, the directors: Expressed approval of the letty council's purchase of 39.21 acres at the city's southwest limits for an industrial development park. The move, they said, ought to dispel ideas that the city government isn't in favor of expansion.

Ordered Sec. Kenneth Corbett to invite the Green Bay Association of Commerce to a joint meeting. Common problems would be discussed.

Heard Membership Chairman John Conway report an increase of about 15 members in the last year. A goal of about 25 new members has been set for this year.

Friday's maximums ranged from 29 degrees at Superior to 41 degrees at La Crosse. The mercury slid to 2 degrees below zero at Park Falls and to 3 above at Superior.

Scattered snow flurries fell in the northwestern corner of the state early today.

department, which called the air force action premature.

Schriever put his opinion on the ARPA in these words: "I believe that any program to develop a separate astronautics agency would result in duplication of capabilities already existing in the air force ballistic missiles programs, and at a cost in funds and time similar to that already expended on these programs."

Two Other Critics

The general urged initiating projects now if the nation is to lead in space technology in what he called the "prime" 1965-70 period.

"Many far-reaching potential capabilities are apparent as we look more into the future and develop the possibilities of thermonuclear propulsion and payloads up to hundreds of tons," he said.

Earlier in the week, the preparedness subcommittee had heard two other generals voice strong criticism of defense policies.

Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, chief of army research and development, said he is retiring March 31 because he contended the army is deteriorating rapidly and "I can't get anything done about it. He said that for the last four years army from strength and appropriations have been whittled down."

And Gen. Thomas D. White, air force chief of staff, told the subcommittee Eisenhower had not asked enough money for a planned stepup in work on 5,000-mile range intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Court Clears Wrightstown Man of Charge

Judge Decrees State Must Prove Case Despite Plea

Green Bay — The charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors brought against Ray Verhagen, Wrightstown, has been dismissed by Municipal Judge Donald W. Gleason.

On Nov. 26, Verhagen pleaded guilty but the district attorney's office asked for an adjournment when a witness failed to substantiate the charge.

In December when the district attorney's office again failed to produce substantiating evidence or testimony, Judge Gleason took the case under advisement.

On Dec. 31, Judge Gleason ruled that despite Verhagen's guilty plea, the state must prove the case. Since there was no substantiating evidence, he dismissed the action.

Judge Gleason said today there was no evidence presented in the hearings to indicate Verhagen was even at a beer party when three juvenile boys arrived at the scene.

The party in question was given at a park in Wrightstown on Sept. 20 by Verhagen for some adult friends. Verhagen apparently was not at the park when three boys arrived in a car uninvited.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Alexander Grant, DePere, told the court the district attorney's office had run into a "stone wall" in trying to back up the charge.
